

Charles Fote

Director of Communications

Charles has well over two decades of communications experience and specializes in strategy and marketing. His track record of success includes work at in-house and external agencies, Fortune 500 corporations and forward-thinking startups.

As a staunch voluntaryist, avid futurist and decentralization advocate, Charles is strongly interested in Web 3, DeFi, international nomadism and ambitious projects that aim to establish permanent colonies at sea and in space.

He lives in southwest Florida and enjoys spending time with his family — wherever they can be on the water and in the sunshine.